With Eyes Awake Watching Dark

HEATHER BURKETTE

With eyes awake watching dark listening to you breathe I wonder what you're dreaming, if it's dreams at all.
It could be only sleep but I always hope for more.
I want to believe it's me, the one holding your dreams just like you hold me now.
Only tighter and closer.

I want to wake you just to tell you I love you and to see if you agree the same in your dreams as in our real lives.

Morning always changes things; I'm dreaming of you,
about how we're meant for us and you wonder what fiction can keep me from you, can hold my attention while my real thing holds me.
It's just you in my dreams and if I would open my eyes wide, enough to see into your blue then I can't imagine ever wanting to dream again.
