Michigan Department of Natural Resources Names GVSU Water Resources Institute Recipient of $200,000 for Publications Project

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (MDNR) has selected the GVSU Water Resources Institute as the recipient of $200,000 to create two publications on state and federal air pollution control requirements.

The funds will pay for the writing, publication and distribution of a technical document demonstrating how companies may apply for DNR-issued air-use permits which enable companies to operate equipment that may discharge pollutants.

Janet Vail, WRI research associate, will manage the production of the original documents and will supervise the production of subsequent updates, which will be issued for one year following the date of publication.

According to Vail, "At present, Michigan industries do not have a comprehensive guide to help them apply for air-use permits.

"Creating this document is not only in keeping with the Institute's role as an environmental resource for business and industry, but it is also an opportunity for us to meet a very important need," she added.

The air-use permit guidance manual will include detailed information on general and specific air use permit procedures and a glossary of air pollution terms. A condensed version of this technical document will be prepared for those who are interested in the air permit application process but are not familiar with the relevant technology.

The concept and funding for the publications came from Lacks Industries, a Grand Rapids-based automotive parts supplier. The funds are part of the company's settlement, reached last April, with the Michigan Attorney General's Office and the MDNR for alleged air pollution problems. Since that time, Lacks has implemented air pollution control measures.

Lacks' technical director Gary Walker said, "Lacks is pleased that the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has selected a west Michigan research organization to develop the guidance document on the complex air-use permit application process."

"We are pleased that the Water Resources Institute has been chosen to produce these informative guides, which will assist industries in applying for air-use permits," said Ronald W. Ward, Director of the Water Resources Institute.

"Although a technical document such as this may seem only of immediate benefit to industry, it will actually benefit our environment and all Michigan residents in the long-run," concluded Ward.

Pasta Fest '92 Is Successful Event For GVSU's Hospitality and Tourism Management Program

More than 400 people attended Pasta Fest '92, a fund-raising event sponsored by the GVSU Hospitality and Tourism Management (HTM) Department and hosted by Pietro's Next Door Ristorante.

The November 12 event raised approximately $1,200, which will be added to a department fund supporting special HTM student activities such as travel to conferences and seminars.

Patrons who sampled pasta from eight area restaurants selected Pietro's Ristorante as the winner of the best restaurant pasta competition. Other participants donating their services included Gibson's, Charley's Crab, Johnny Noto's, Trattoria, Florentine's, the Amway Grand Plaza, and G.B. Russo's.

Tuti DeMaagd's pasta was selected as the winner in the celebrity pasta competition. The food critic's recipe was chosen from recipes offered by celebrities from WLHT radio, WZZM-TV 13, and WOOD-TV 8.

Pasta Fest '92 was organized and staffed by GVSU Hospitality and Tourism Management students.

Signs of the Season: Emergency Closing Policy

In the event of severe weather, the following emergency closing policy will take effect.

GVSU will close all or part of its operations only in case of extreme emergency caused by impassable roads, violent weather, energy loss, or other conditions seriously endangering the health or safety of the students, faculty and staff. As a rule, the GVSU Eberhard Center will close only when the Allendale campus is closed.

Announcement of closing will be made over the following area stations. For more detailed updates on campus conditions and area roads, tune to WGUV-FM 88.5 Every effort will be made to make the decision to closes as early as possible, but no later than 7 a.m. for daytime classes and by 3 p.m. for evening classes.

Everyone should assume the university is open unless they hear otherwise on radio or television. Students, faculty, and staff are asked not to call the GVSU switchboard about closings, but instead to listen for the information on radio and television.

When classes are cancelled, all employees are expected to report for work unless the closing announcement indicates that only "essential employees" need report. Personnel from the following areas are considered essential and are expected to report: physical plant, health services, food service, housing, switchboard services, computer center, WGUV-TV and GVSU Eberhard Center Building Management.

Unless GVSU is officially closed, faculty members are expected to hold classes as usual. Individual faculty members who wish to cancel a class or other event should only do so with permission of their dean. In such cases, faculty members are responsible for notifying students for each class they teach. The media will announce only complete closings, not cancellations of individual classes or events.
