

Visitors from Around the World

The data represents groups who have toured the Mary Idema Pew Library since 2013. People from across the United States as well as 17 different countries have visited University Libraries for unique learning opportunities. Visitors are most often prospective students. Architects, designers, university administrators, library professionals, and others come to see the innovative spaces and services of University Libraries.