Italics is accepting submissions for the 2003 issue. The deadline for submissions is November 1, 2002. Please submit your poetry, fiction, or non-fiction on a PC disk along with a hard copy to LSH 107. On the hard copy and the disk include your name, address, phone number and email address. Disks and hard copy will not be returned. Photos and art work can be returned. Notification for acceptance is typically in March and publication is scheduled for April. Please limit your submissions to three per issue. Photography or artwork must be black and white and in the form of a scanable drawing or photograph.
The November 2002 issue is scheduled for April, typically in March and is published in April. The work will be black and white drawing or photograph.

Creative writing students learn to create original works of poetry, drama, and fiction. Students in the creative writing track learn to recognize and describe various poetic and prose forms, to analyze the creative work of others, including both professional writers and fellow students, and to reflect on their own developing personal aesthetic.

Professional writing students are taught to generate a wide range of non-fiction prose appropriate for a wide range of rhetorical situations. Students in the professional writing track specialize in the kinds of writing that demonstrate knowledge in professional fields outside of the academy. Students become sophisticated analysts of communication situations and self-reflective about their own rhetorical skills.