Call for Manuscripts & Graphics

The Michigan Reading Journal is the peer-reviewed journal of the Michigan Reading Association. With a circulation of 6,500 teachers, literacy specialists, and university-based researchers, the journal publishes on diverse topics related to literacy, including reading, writing, speaking, listening, viewing, visually representing, technology, and literature for children and young adults. Submissions may be made in any of the categories below:

Research Articles: Articles submitted in this category present original, scientifically based research; quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-methods research are all invited. Manuscripts in this category must include APA formatted references to the relevant research literature and must not exceed 20 typed, double-spaced pages in 12-point type. Research manuscripts will be blindly reviewed by members of the journal's editorial review board, using the review heuristic on page 92 and which is available on the MRA website.

Feature Articles: Articles in this category include literature reviews, classroom practice-based or theoretical topics of interest to Michigan educators. Articles must include APA formatted references to the relevant research literature. Manuscript submissions must not exceed 20 typed, double-spaced pages in 12-point type. All feature article manuscripts are blindly reviewed by members of the journal's editorial review board, using a review heuristic that is available on the MRA website.

Visual Literacy: Submissions in this category share visual artifacts of literacy teaching practices through photos of teachers and students engaging in literacy, literacy projects, literacy centers, and artifacts of student learning. Each image should be clear, in focus, of a high resolution/quality and sent as a full-size jpeg or tiff file attachment, accompanied by a brief, 50-100-word description. Documents must be scanned, not photographed; the latter will not be of high enough quality for publication. By submitting an item to Visual Literacy, the individual indicates that he/she has obtained consent from district, school, teacher, parent, and child to use the image for publication. Submissions in this category are reviewed by the journal's editor.

Teachers as Writers & Illustrators: Submissions in this category include teacher-authored original poetry, short stories, memoirs, and graphics relevant to literacy and classroom teaching. Text submissions should be 750 words or fewer and must be typed, double-spaced, and in 12-point type. Graphic submissions should be of a high resolution/quality and sent as full-size jpeg or tiff file attachments accompanied by a brief, 50-100-word description. Graphic documents must be scanned, not photographed; the latter will not be of high enough quality for publication. Submissions in this category are reviewed by the journal's editor.

Letters to the Editor: We invite and encourage your letters in response to what you have read in the Michigan Reading Journal. Did research presented help you better understand teaching and learning? Were you inspired to try a new teaching strategy? Are you still puzzling over a topic recently featured? Is there something you haven't seen in the journal that you want us to address? Let us hear from you. Letters may be edited, with author's permission, for publication.

Deadlines:

The Michigan Reading Journal is published three times yearly. While manuscripts are reviewed on a rolling basis, deadlines are as follows: fall issue – May 1; winter issue – Sept. 1; spring issue – Jan. 1. For example, this means that a manuscript submitted in November would mostly likely be considered for the spring issue.

Submitting Your Work:

All manuscripts should be submitted electronically as Microsoft Word documents to Dr. Leah van Belle at MichiganReadingJournal@gmail.com. Due to the blind review process, submissions should not include the author's name on the manuscript or graphic. A separate cover letter should be submitted as a Word document and should provide: a) author's name; b) author's title/position; c) school/district affiliation; d) telephone number; e) email address; and f) one sentence each author would like readers to know about his/her professional work or background.

Michigan Reading Journal* Manuscript Review Heuristic

Note to Authors: Below is the heuristic that the journal's Editorial Review Board members use when reviewing manuscripts. The questions are intended to guide reviewers and help them shape their written summaries of feedback and recommendation regarding publication. The completed heuristics and summaries are forwarded to authors, along with the publication decision. The journal has a copy editor who provides feedback on spelling, grammar, mechanics, APA format, etc., so reviewers focus their review and feedback on the more global guiding questions below.

The guiding questions in the heuristic can also serve to help authors shape their manuscripts in order to meet standards for publication in MRJ.

Guiding Questions for the Review Process	Yes	No	Brief Comments (Optional in this section, but summary of feedback in Part III is essential.)
Is the topic significant and the focus clearly stated?
Does the manuscript contain new and significant information to justify publication?
Is the manuscript founded on a solid theoretical base?
Does the manuscript contain an appropriate blend of theory and practice?
Does the manuscript include evidence that supports the conclusion?
Will the manuscript appeal to MRJ's diverse audience?
Is the voice and tone of the manuscript appropriate for MRJ's audience?
