The Foundation Review

Volume 5
Issue 4 Open Access

2014

Back Matter

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.gvsu.edu/tfr>

Part of the Nonprofit Administration and Management Commons, and the Public Affairs, Public Policy and Public Administration Commons

Recommended Citation

(2014). Back Matter. The Foundation Review, 5(4). <https://doi.org/10.9707/1944-5660.1185>

Copyright © 2014 Dorothy A. Johnson Center for Philanthropy at Grand Valley State University. The Foundation Review is reproduced electronically by ScholarWorks@GVSU. <https://scholarworks.gvsu.edu/tfr>

Grantmaker Education from the Johnson Center

We offer a diverse set of resources and education designed to strengthen grantmaker learning and their impact in their chosen field.

The Grantmaking School

A practitioner led program that teaches the techniques of effective grantmaking to foundation program officers and other grantmaking professionals.

www.thegrantmakingschool.org

The Foundation Review

The first peer-reviewed journal of philanthropy, written by and for foundation staff and boards, and those who work with them. The journal provides rigorous research and writing in an accessible style.

www.thefoundationreview.org

LearnPhilanthropy

Built by the field, for the field

In this field-wide hub for grantmaker learning, learners and learning providers can find and share resources, ideas, and insights on good practice.

www.learnphilanthropy.net

Johnson Center

at Grand Valley State University

www.johnsoncenter.org

Call for Papers

FOR VOLUME 6, ISSUE 4

Abstracts of up to 250 words are being solicited for Volume 6, Issue 4 of The Foundation Review. This issue will be an open (unthemed) issue. Papers on any topic relevant to organized philanthropy are invited.

Submit abstracts to submissions@foundationreview.org by March 15, 2014. If a full paper is invited, it will be due June 30, 2014 for consideration for publication in December 2014.

Abstracts are solicited in four categories:

- Results. Papers in this category generally report on findings from evaluations of foundation-funded work. Papers should include a description of the theory of change (logic model, program theory), a description of the grant-making strategy, the evaluation methodology, the results, and discussion. The discussion should focus on what has been learned both about the programmatic content and about grantmaking and other foundation roles (convening, etc.).
- Tools. Papers in this category should describe tools useful for foundation staff or boards. By “tool” we mean a systematic, replicable method intended for a specific purpose. For example, a protocol to assess community readiness and standardized facilitation methods would be considered a tool. The actual tool should be included in the article where practical. The paper should describe the rationale for the tool, how it was developed, and available evidence of its usefulness.
- Sector. Papers in this category address issues that confront the philanthropic sector as whole, such as diversity, accountability, etc. These are typically empirically based; literature reviews are also considered.
- Reflective Practice. The reflective practice articles rely on the knowledge and experience of the authors, rather than on formal evaluation methods or designs. In these cases, it is because of their perspective about broader issues, rather than specific initiatives, that the article is valuable.

BOOK REVIEWS: The Foundation Review publishes reviews of relevant books. Please contact the editor to discuss submitting a review. Reviewers must be free of conflicts of interest.

Please contact Teri Behrens, Editor of The Foundation Review, with questions at behrenst@foundationreview.org or 734-646-2874.