Don’t know Spanish yourself?

Actually, this is no reason to not put your student into a Spanish Immersion program. Teachers will give out resources for you. This will enable you to be able to help them with any homework or activities at home. However, teachers try to teach independence in the classrooms.

Is this the right program for your child?

Your child is able to learn a fluency in Spanish that is not taught easily in a high school or college level. It doesn’t put them behind in any way. Typically, students perform equally, if not better, on standardized tests than students in a regular program by 4th grade.
Is the curriculum different?

The curriculum is actually almost identical to a regular program. The same topics and concepts are taught to all the students regardless which of the programs they are in.
