Editorial Comment

Danny L. Balfour

Grand Valley State University

Follow this and additional works at: http://scholarworks.gvsu.edu/spnareview

Recommended Citation

Available at: http://scholarworks.gvsu.edu/spnareview/vol2/iss1/1
Editorial Comment ..................................................iii

From Service to Solidarity: Evaluation and Recommendations for International Service Learning........................................1
Melissa Baker-Boosamra

Evaluating Public School Funding in Michigan and the Impact of Proposal A.................................................22
Anne-Marie Bessette

After School Policy in the State of Michigan.........................40
Erica Curry

The Budgetary Process of Michigan State Parks..................59
Kimberly Ann Langley

Analysis of the Bankruptcy Abuse Prevention and Consumer Protection Act of 2005 (BAPCPA)............................86
Rachel Ruser
EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor-in-Chief
Danny L. Balfour
Professor and Director, SPNA

Editorial Assistant
Julie Ford-Upright

Production Manager
Don Zysk

BOARD OF EDITORS/SPNA FACULTY

Steven Borders
Assistant Professor

M. Curtis Hoffman
Associate Professor

Richard Jelier
Associate Professor

Diane Kimoto
Assistant Professor

Myron Mast
Professor

Paul Mavima
Assistant Professor

Michael Payne
Professor

Donijo Robbins
Associate Professor

Joel Orosz
Distinguished Professor

Jane Sponholz
Assistant Professor

Takashi Tsukamoto
Visiting Assistant Professor

ISSN 1555-4805
EDITORIAL COMMENT

This second issue of the School of Public and Nonprofit Administration SPNA Review represents real progress towards achieving the school’s vision of being “a preeminent source for public service education.” It is our expectation that each year the best work by our Master of Public Administration and Master of Health Administration students will not only appear in this journal, but also will receive awards and be published in national journals as evidence of the excellent work being done by SPNA graduate students. One of the papers published in this year’s journal – “A Budgetary Analysis of Michigan State Parks” by Kimberly Langley has won the 2006 best paper award from the Capitol Area Chapter of the American Society of Public Administration, selected from submissions by each of Michigan’s public administration graduate programs. Two more, the papers by Melissa Baker-Boosamra and Rachel Ruser, have been submitted for publication in peer-reviewed journals. I am confident that they will successfully navigate the peer-review process and be published within the coming year. It is exciting indeed to have our students join our faculty members in contributing to the academic literature in public and nonprofit administration.

I hope you will take the time to carefully read and consider the findings of each of these papers. They demonstrate how MPA graduates are able to grapple with the policy and administrative issues faced by today’s public service. Whether you are a new or returning student, a faculty member, an advisory board member, or a public service professional, the work published here can provide both insight and inspiration for what can be accomplished in public service education.

Danny L. Balfour
Professor and Director, SPNA
July, 2006