EDITORIAL POLICY

Beginning with the fall issue of LAJM, the new MLA style (parenthetical documentation) will appear. Non-sexist language is a continuing policy. Since the Michigan Council of Teachers of English consists of members at the elementary, middle school, junior high, secondary, and college levels, LAJM's mission is to represent all levels of English/Language Arts instruction in its publications. And since the purpose of MCTE, dating back to 1911, is "to promote the better teaching of English and the Language Arts in the State of Michigan," LAJM is committed to publishing mostly articles that contain more "practice" than "theory." Without being too narrow in focus (i.e., technical writing for engineers), articles in LAJM will be on the language arts—reading, writing, listening, and speaking—language, literature, popular culture, and other related areas; in addition, professional concerns that affect the teaching of English/Language Arts. All submissions will be carefully reviewed and acknowledgement given as soon as possible.

LAJM SUBMISSIONS

Send manuscripts (4-10 doublespaced, typewritten pages) in triplicate and a summary about yourself with a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Dr. John Beard, Editor of LAJM, 6225 Balfour, Lansing, Michigan 48910. Manuscripts should be written according to the new MLA style (paranetical documentation); write for a style sheet if desirable. Deadlines: the fall issue is the first of August; the spring issue is the first of December.
